Biography
Lieutenant Colonel Raymond Eugene Beal II, U.S. Marine Corps

Lieutenant Colonel Beal enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1982 and served over four years on active duty as a field wireman in Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, and as a Marine Security Guard at the American Embassies in Islamabad, Pakistan and Ottawa, Canada. In 1986 he left active duty and entered the reserves as a sergeant while he attended college at Fitchburg State and Worcester State Colleges, in his native Massachusetts. In 1987 Lieutenant Colonel Beal enrolled in the Naval ROTC program at the College of Holy Cross and upon graduating from Worcester State in 1990 with a BA in History, magna cum laude, he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant.

Upon completing the Basic and Infantry Officer Courses in Quantico Virginia, he was assigned the military occupational specialty of infantry officer and reported to Camp Lejeune for duty with Second Battalion, Second Marines where he served as a rifle platoon, weapons platoon, and heavy machinegun platoon commander, and executive officer for Weapons Company.

In 1993 Lieutenant Colonel Beal reported to U.S. Naval Base Guantanamo Bay for duty with Marine Barracks/Ground Security Force where he served as First Platoon Commander, Rifle Security Company Windward. In 1994 he reported to Marine Corps Recruit Depot/Western Recruiting Region San Diego where he served as a series commander in Third Recruit Training Battalion and as a staff officer on the commanding general's staff.

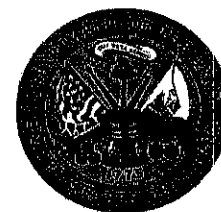

Lieutenant Colonel Beal attended the California Western School of Law, San Diego from 1997 to 2000 through the Law Education Program. Upon passing the California State Bar and completing the Basic Lawyer Course at the Naval Justice School, he reported to Camp Pendleton, where served with the Legal Service Support Section as trial counsel, senior trial counsel, and senior defense counsel. In 2003 he deployed to Kuwait with I MEF as the senior defense counsel.

Lieutenant Colonel Beal reported to Washington D.C. in 2003 where he served as an Appellate Government counsel. He presented oral argument before the Court of Appeal for the Armed Forces in the cases of United States v. Kahmann, 59 M.J. 309 (2004); United States v. Gore, 60 M.J. 108 (2004); and United States v. Oestmann, 61 M.J. 103 (2005). Lieutenant Colonel Beal also argued before the Navy—Marine Corps Court of Criminal Appeals in the murder case, United States v. Coleman, No. 200101009, unpublished op. (N.M.Ct.Crim.App. 29 Mar 2007). Lieutenant Colonel Beal was also the primary author of the Government's response in the capital murder case, United States v. Walker, 66 M.J. 721 (N.M.Ct.Crim.App. 2008).

On 1 August 2006, Lieutenant Colonel Beal reported to Naval Air Station Jacksonville, Florida to serve as a military judge in the Southern Circuit, Navy-Marine Corps Trial Judiciary. On 30 May 2007 he assumed the duties as Circuit Judge. To date, he has presided over 36 general courts-martial and 93 special courts-martial.
